

Virtualized Solutions

Ensure Security, Provide Accessibility, Meet Regulations, Maintain Total Control

With a Genesis Virtualized solution, you get all the benefits of on-premise installed software without the main drawback: maintaining stand-alone physical hardware. Genesis Virtualized Solutions can seamlessly integrate into your existing virtualized infrastructure and eliminate the need for dedicated hardware and reliance on legacy peripherals such as serial ports.

No PC or server hardware required

All the benefits of premise installed software without the main drawback: maintaining physical hardware.

Simplified disaster recovery & high availability

Sourcing new hardware in the event of failures, re-installing in the event of upgrades, and downtime are all non-existent issues.

Total control over your solution

You choose everything, including the location of your Genesis installation, the frequency to apply updates, and the method of access.

No Need for internet access

Works in remote environments or other locations with limited internet access. You still get the web-based software, just without the need for reliable internet connectivity.

Ideal for high security organizations

Due to regulations, you may be required to keep all sensitive data on-site or limit offsite access. Your data remains on-site at all times and you retain total control of who can access the software and from where.

Accessible from anywhere on your network

On-premises doesn't mean off-line. You can still access the software from anywhere you like within your corporate LAN.

Secure access with user accounts

User account controls are fully configurable, you can add both administrator and standard user accounts, restrict certain users to certain roles, and more.

Receive reports & alerts automatically

Add customized reports and alert criteria to your auto emailing list to keep you in the loop on or off site.

Viewable on virtually any internet browser equipped device

Whether you have a tablet or smartphone, Windows, Mac or Linux PC, your Genesis solution is fully compatible.

Easily migrated to Genesis Cloud Solutions

We make the decision to take your solutions to the cloud easy, and because your Genesis solutions are already cloud-ready the process is simple.
